T.O. man behind huge child-porn ring, police say

Betrayal of trust. Teachers, doctors, priests and foster parents arrested

JESSICA SMITH CROSS
jessica.smithcross@metronews.ca

The online video store that sparked Canada's biggest child porn investigation was operating out in the open for years, and finally busting it led to the rescue of more than 300 children, police said Thursday.

Azovfilms.com wasn't hidden online. It would turn up in searches by those in the know looking for "naturalist" and "coming of age" films of young nude boys, making in excess of $4 million yearly. The web page told buyers the products were legal in Canada.

"We expected that to be the defence, but there haven't been any successes," said Det. Const. Lisa Belanger.

So far, 348 people around the world have been arrested. "They include 50 in Ontario, 58 in the rest of Canada, 76 in the United States and 164 internationally," said Insp. Joanna Beaven-Desjardins, head of the sex Crimes Unit. "The arrests included 40 school teachers, nine doctors and nurses, 32 people who volunteered with children, six law enforcement personnel, nine pastors or priests and three foster parents."

Nine are Torontonians; five have been convicted. Brian Way, the site's alleged founder, is facing trial on child porn and criminal organization charges.

Mayor's wife enters spotlight

City hall. Renata Ford makes a rare public appearance while her husband apologizes for a vulgar reference to their sex life

Accused of partying with prostitutes and sexually harassing female city staff, Mayor Rob Ford has pulled his little-seen wife, Renata, into the fray.

Renata stood silently at the mayor's side Thursday, her eyes cast to the floor, as Ford first denounced the latest batch of allegations against him, and then apologized for using "unforgivable language" earlier in the day.

The mayor was referring to a vulgar comment he'd made that morning about female genitalia and his sex life with Renata, his wife of 13 years.

At a noon-hour press conference in the mayor's protocol lounge, Ford explained accusations of cocaine and escort use had pushed him "over the line." The mayor said he was receiving support from a team of health-care professionals, but refused to elaborate. Ford then implored reporters to respect his family's privacy, before dragging Renata through a throng of television crews, rather than taking the side exit he typically uses.

"I think my husband said already enough. Please respect our privacy. We want some privacy for our family."

Renata, who has appeared in public with her husband only a handful of times since his election, was then walked to her car by two members of Ford's staff. Renata said it was OK if photographers took photos, but said she didn't want to comment on the brewing scandal.

Asked if her husband should step aside, Renata said, "No ... that's why we have elections."

At his press conference, Ford apologized, but quickly switched to attack mode.

"I used unforgivable language, and again, I apologize," he said. "These allegations are 100 per cent lies. When you attack my integrity as a father and as a husband, I see red."

Ford's alleged slurs dismay immigrants

Jehad Aliweiwi TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Leaders in Toronto's ethnic communities are shaking their heads at some of the new allegations against Mayor Rob Ford, including his use of racial slurs, such as calling a taxi driver a "Paki," and avoiding attendance at ethnic media events.

They also worry about the impact the Ford affair has on civic engagement and democracy in the minds of recent newcomers, many of whom have fled corruption and war-torn countries where democracy is just a dream.

"This is not Civics 101 that we want to introduce to newcomers," said Jehad Aliweiwi, executive director of the Thorncliffe Neighbourhood Office, a community association that serves one of Toronto's most diverse communities.

"I think it's a sad commentary on the state of affairs that the mayor of Canada's largest city can get away with uttering racial slurs," Aliweiwi said. "I couldn't get away with saying that, and I'm nobody."

Aliweiwi said Ford has betrayed and cut into the hearts of many in the immigrant community — some of whom supported him in the last election — with his reported use of racial slurs. "He knows and doesn't care that he got a lot of support from immigrant communities," he said.

Ford may face uphill battle with libel claim

He's not gonna take it. Mayor says he will pursue legal action against ex-staffers who told cops he partied with a prostitute and snorted cocaine

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford has a laugh at city hall Thursday. STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Mayor Rob Ford has vowed to take legal action against his former staffers for alleging in interviews with police detectives that he partied with a prostitute and snorted cocaine, among other transgressions.

But he may face an uphill battle, says a Toronto media lawyer who specializes in defamation claims.

"Anything is possible when it comes to Ford, but any lawsuit on that basis would be doomed to fail," Iain MacKinnon said. "The staffers would have an excellent defence of qualified privilege."

According to MacKinnon, "society wants to encourage people to speak honestly and candidly in certain situations when they have a legal or moral duty to talk.

"Giving statements to police during a police investigation is one such occasion," he said.

Speaking to reporters outside his city hall office on Thursday morning, Ford took aim at former staffers Isaac Ransom, George Christopoulos and Mark Towhey in particular.

"I've ... never had a prostitute here. I'm very happily married at home. This is very disturbing against my wife," Ford said. "I have no other choice. I'm the last one to take legal action. I can't put up with it anymore."

Released on Wednesday, previously blacked-out portions of court documents related to the ongoing police investigation of Ford and alleged drug dealer Alexander "Sandro" Lisi, offer additional insight into an alleged all-night binge.

According to the mayor's former staffers, the St. Patrick's Day party included a stop at Ford's city hall office, and saw Ford swill vodka, snort cocaine and party with an apparent prostitute, the documents show. The allegations have not been proven in court.

Pro bono defence

If Rob Ford follows through with his promise to sue, Toronto lawyer Brian Shiller is offering to represent all of the proposed defendants on a pro bono basis.

- "It is important that a signal is sent that the citizens of Toronto will not be intimidated by the mayor of Toronto from co-operating with the police in an investigation into potential wrongdoing by the leader of this great city," he told Torstar News Service in an email.

Ransom, Christopoulos and Towhey did not respond to requests for comment from Torstar News Service.

Toronto lawyer Gavin Tighe, who successfully defended the mayor in a defamation lawsuit filed by restaurant owner George Foulidis, said he could not comment on whether he has spoken with Ford about the prospect of suing his former staffers because the Foulidis case is still under appeal.

"My hands are tied. I really can't talk about it," he said. "When I do have instructions, I'll let you know."

What the Rob F?

Musician stands by ode to the 'taxpayer's lord'

Singer-songwriter Jenny James has been fielding the question a lot lately: Does she regret her glowing ode — Mayor Ford (The World Will Remember) — now?

Nope.

She wrote the tune to perform at this year's Ford Fests, two Ford-funded barbecues that drew thousands. It hailed Mayor Rob Ford as a "cost cowboy," a "taxpayer's lord," who is "fair and keep things square."

"The main purpose of that song is to entertain the Ford Nation," said James. "I didn't regret writing (it). I'm having second thoughts of maybe rewriting the lyrics, but not confirmed."

In her song — penned last summer, after Torstar News Service and Gawker reported the existence of the now-infamous crack video, but before it was confirmed by police — James wrote, "All the crazy accusations/ Won't break apart the Ford Nation."

Now, it's anyone's guess how the mayor's legendary support base will respond to the most recent cascade of allegations and admissions in the Ford imbroglio.

"For me, I just feel sympathy for Mayor Ford because he does his job as the mayor and with his personal things that have happened … that's his personal life," said James, though she said recent revelations have "kind of turned me off."

The world sure will remember

"He's not a good influence on our youngsters. I don't agree with him doing all (that) stuff, but on the other hand, he admitted he made mistakes ... and I think everybody deserves another chance."

Premier Kathleen Wynne makes a statement about Rob Ford on Thursday. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

No provincial intervention unless...

Ford fallout. Premier lays out conditions for stepping in on scandal, including a formal request by city council

Premier Kathleen Wynne has had enough of Rob Ford's "truly disturbing" behaviour and is prepared to give Toronto city councillors "new tools" to deal with the defiant mayor.

Fed up with Ford, an admitted crack cocaine user who is under police investigation for his links to an accused drug dealer, Wynne took the extraordinary step Thursday of threatening to intervene.

The premier said she was willing to empower city council to sideline the mayor with two key conditions.

Astounded

"The things we are seeing and hearing about Mayor Rob Ford are truly disturbing."
Premier Kathleen Wynne

Councillors, who meet Friday to discuss Ford's fate, would have to formally request such action — and Progressive Conservative Leader Tim Hudak and NDP Leader Andrea Horwath would have to endorse any legislative changes.

"The city of Toronto has a mayor and council that were elected by the residents of Toronto and must be accountable to them. It is up to the municipal level of government to address the issues they face," the premier said at a hastily called news conference.

Yet Wynne still flung open the door to the province playing the heavy.

"If council were to clearly indicate that they lack the ability to function as a result of this matter, the province would respond to a request from council to be provided new tools, depending on what that request might be," the premier said.

Mayor Rob Ford and his brother Doug Ford speak on their now-defunct radio talk show for Newstalk 1010. COLIN MCCONNELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

Now on TV. Ford bros. take (side)show to Sun News

The Fords are back on the air.

Toronto's most notorious brothers will return to their hosting duties next week — but not at Newstalk 1010. Instead, Rob and Doug Ford will migrate to the small screen Monday evening when their new show, Ford Nation, kicks off on the Sun News Network at 8 p.m.

Details of the new show's format are scant so far, but a Sun News report said the Fords would likely broadcast from the network's Ontario Street studio, and that Ford Nation will include appearances from other Sun News personalities.

The Fords' weekly Newstalk 1010 radio show was cancelled earlier this month. Rob Ford admitted on the show's last instalment to excessive drinking, but refused to discuss a video that appears to show him smoking crack cocaine.

Paul Benedetti, co-ordinator of the journalism program at Western University, said he was flabbergasted to learn about the new show.

"It's surprising to me that a network of any kind would want to associate themselves with Rob Ford at this time," he said, adding that the mayor has become "toxic."

A TV show is another example of the brothers bypassing reporters and the media to speak directly to the public, as they did with their call-in radio show, Benedetti said.

"I think they understand that there's a cohort of people out there that support them and I think they think it's a powerful way to reach their audience."

Still, Benedetti said he doesn't see Ford Nation staying on the airwaves — though he can imagine people tuning in for the novelty factor at first, the same way people stop to gawk at traffic accidents.

Re-election hopes

Four more years for Ford? No chance, poll suggests

A new poll shows Rob Ford will not come close to winning next year's mayoral election — in four different scenarios.

Ford would lose out to Karen Stintz, John Tory and Olivia Chow in the various situations posed, according to a poll conducted by Ipsos Reid for CTV News, CP24 and Newstalk 1010 that was released Thursday.

The online survey of 665 Torontonians, conducted between Nov. 8 and 12, is considered accurate to within plus or minus 4.3 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.

Richard Feren, a.k.a. @TOMayorFrod, poses with the real Rob Ford on Tuesday. CONTRIBUTED

Twitter's Rob Frod to Mayor Ford: Resign, already

#Satire. Creator behind the account is a firm believer in the power of political parody

LUKE SIMCOE
Metro Online

The man behind a satiric Twitter send-up of Rob Ford says the embattled Toronto mayor has "almost no redeemable qualities."

Offline, Richard Feren is an award-winning composer and sound designer in Toronto. Online, he masquerades as Mayor Rob Frod (@TOMayorFrod), a biting parody of the real Ford's Twitter account.

Feren started the account in May after two of Ford's top communication aides resigned in the wake of the crack video scandal. With no one manning the reins of the official account, Feren decided to step in.

"I started to pretend I was retweeting the mayor and would say things like 'the coffee pot has been changed' and 'the Marmaduke comics have been put up,'" he said. "I thought it was funny."

So did others. Since its inception, the frod-ulent Ford account has amassed more than 3,700 followers.

Frod's big coming out moment came in July, during the flash floods that rocked Toronto. While the mayor's official, staff-penned account continued to trumpet Ford's achievements, Feren began tweeting useful information about transportation and safety.

Quoted

"I started to pretend I was retweeting the mayor and would say things like 'the coffee pot has been changed' and 'the Marmaduke comics have been put up.'"
Richard Feren, @TOMayorFrod

Mayor Frod balances biting satire with the genuine engagement Feren feels is lacking from the mayor's online office.

"During Pride, I made a point of announcing all the various Pride events on Twitter," he said. "It's kind of a window into this alternate universe where we actually have a good mayor."

As the Ford saga continues to unfold, Feren admits its been a struggle to come up with satire that can trump reality.

"Half the time, I'm just stating the facts, because that's already a joke," he said.

However, Feren remains a firm believer in the power of political parody.

"When it's done well, it provides a lot of insight that more earnest critiques can't quite deliver. And in my opinion, it's the most deeply moral art form."

Some of his contemporaries might disagree. Last week, @80sDougFord — an account that poked fun at Doug Ford's alleged drug-peddling past — laid down its satiric sword. And on Wednesday, @HulkMayor — another parody that imagined Rob Ford as the Incredible Hulk — announced its retirement via an expletive-laden screed on Facebook.

"I started doing this because I was angry," the person behind @HulkMayor wrote. "But now I just feel dirty. I don't want to be a part of this anymore."

In contrast, Feren has vowed to maintain the Frod account until its inspiration is no longer in office.

"Sometimes, I do feel angry or powerless," he said. "But we need this now more than ever and I want to be the one to keep it up and hammer every last nail into his coffin."

At first, Feren was content to labour anonymously, keeping his identity secret from his followers. However, when Mayor Ford admitted to having smoked crack cocaine two weeks ago, he decided to go public.

Feren has also struggled with drugs — he admits to using crack cocaine in his youth — and believes the experience better enables him to criticize the mayor.

"I'm the last person who's going to judge someone solely for their drug use. I want to make that clear," he said. "But it's not about that. It's about the lying, the belligerence and the deceit. It's about the way he treats people. It's about the way he treats facts."

Gardens sex abuser now facing 107 new charges

Gordon Stuckless. Convicted in '97 of sex assaults on 24 boys, he now faces new charges on allegations going back decades

Gordon Stuckless leaves 52 Division after being arrested again on sex charges. STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

A man at the centre of the Maple Leaf Gardens sex-abuse scandal now faces more than 100 charges in relation to alleged offences that took place in the Toronto area decades ago.

York Regional Police say they've laid nine new charges against Gordon Stuckless, bringing the total counts faced by the 64-year-old to 107.

All charges relating to separate investigations by Toronto police and York Regional Police have been merged together.

Investigators say Stuckless surrendered to police on Wednesday and was charged with nine counts relating to an alleged victim who came forward last month and reported historic sexual assaults.

The new charges are four counts each of indecent assault on a male and sexual assault, and one count of gross indecency.

Stuckless is known to have made contact with boys through schools and minor sports in Toronto, Thornhill, Oak Ridges and Haliburton County. Investigators say there is no statute of limitations for sexual offences. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Laval. 10 young teens arrested on child-porn charges; seven victims

Child pornography, peddled by children. That's the serious accusation levelled at 10 adolescents arrested Thursday in the Montreal area.

The boys allegedly coaxed their friends and girlfriends into posing for pictures they later shared among themselves.

Aged between 13 and 15 years old, they were arrested in a sweep early Thursday in Laval, a suburb just north of Montreal.

They face various charges — including the production, possession and distribution of child pornography — and are expected to appear in youth court later Thursday.

A Laval police spokeswoman said they are hopeful the myriad files, at least one of them a video, were not widely distributed.

So far, police say they have identified seven victims — with all of the girls in the same age bracket as the accused. Police have met with the girls and their parents.

How it got started

The Laval investigation began in earnest in October after a staff member at one Laval high school noticed that kids were huddled around a phone, looking at an image of a girl that was sexually explicit.

Lorrain said police have yet to go through a number of devices they seized Thursday. Other victims might be identified once police go through smartphones, laptop computers and tablets that were all seized as part of Operation Magma.

"The study of these items will allow us to know who received these images and if there were any more victims," Lorrain said.

Police said the network included students attending three English high schools in Laval. THE CANADIAN PRESS

MORE RIDERS, MORE SERVICE PLANNED FOR 2014

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

Next week, the TTC Board will consider staff's recommendations for the 2014 budget – both operating (day-to-day) and capital (long-term, state of good repair, and expansion). The TTC is at a critical crossroads in its journey to modernize the TTC and to support the Five-Year Corporate Plan that will transform the transit system into one that makes Toronto proud.

As I have previously commented, the TTC must rise to the challenge of ever-increasing, and record-setting, customer numbers within the tightest financial constraints of any transit system in North America. Over the past two years, the TTC has cut internal costs and lived within a frozen subsidy despite this ongoing, annual growth.

With ridership expected to hit a record 540 million trips in 2014, and with the demands on our Wheel-Trans service continuing to grow, the TTC is seeking an increase to its subsidy from the City of Toronto that will cover the cost of the additional service that is required to meet demand.

The subsidy increase that the City has proposed still leaves a sizeable shortfall in funding, however. This means that fares will have to increase, but will be kept within the rate of inflation – five cents. At the same time, the TTC will continue to seek efficiencies inside the organization, while also improving service on the street.

The TTC's capital budget is equally challenging. There is an urgent need for an additional $2.7 billion in funding over the next 10 years to enable the TTC to maintain the existing network in a state of good repair, but also to build new capacity. At present, the City, which funds the TTC's capital budget, cannot afford this. The TTC and City together will establish a high-level task force to lobby both the provincial and federal governments to seek long-term, sustainable and predictable funding for the TTC's ongoing, and growing, needs.

The budget report to be presented next week can be found at ttc.ca under "public meetings." The report provides a detailed explanation of what is being asked, and why it is necessary to keep the TTC moving. The public meeting, should you wish to attend, starts at 1 p.m. at City Hall this Monday, Nov. 18.

TTC WELCOMES ITS 29 BILLIONTH RIDER

TTC Chair Karen Stintz, CEO Andy Byford and Chief Customer Officer Chris Upfold marked a major milestone for the TTC on Wednesday by welcoming the TTC's 29 billionth rider since the TTC was formed in 1921.

Robert Kinsey of Toronto was selected as the 29 billionth rider for being a long- time subscriber to the TTC's Metropass Discount Plan. Mr. Kinsey received a free Metropass for one year.

The TTC continues to set record ridership levels. In 2014, the TTC expects to carry 540 million riders. In 2013, the TTC has already set five one-day ridership levels.

HERE COMES SANTA CLAUS!

On Sunday, Nov. 17, take the TTC to the 109th annual Santa Claus Parade. For direct access to the parade route, customers can exit from Christie, Bathurst, Spadina and St George stations on the Bloor-Danforth line, or Museum, Queen's Park, St Patrick, Osgoode, St Andrew and King stations on the Yonge-University-Spadina line.

Customers travelling with a family or group can take advantage of the TTC's Family/Group Day Pass. For $10.75, a group of up to six people, maximum two adults over 19, enjoy unlimited, one-day travel. Day Passes are available now at all TTC collector booths. Get yours early and avoid the lineups.

TTC service impacts:

501 Queen, 504 King, 505 Dundas, 506 Carlton streetcars and 511 Bathurst replacement buses will be maintained over regular routing through breaks in the parade. A number of buses will divert for the duration of the parade, including the 5 Avenue Rd, 6 Bay, 72A Pape, 94 Wellesley, 126 Christie, 161 Rogers Rd and the 509 replacement buses. Details are available at ttc.ca.

GET INVOLVED

TTC CUSTOMER TOWN HALL

The TTC will hold its Customer Town Hall meeting on Thursday, Nov. 21, in the Council Chamber at Toronto City Hall, 100 Queen St. W. Starting at 6:30 p.m., people can get specific information about TTC initiatives and speak one-on-one with TTC staff.

The public forum will kick off at 7 p.m. and wrap up at 9 p.m. People can ask questions, make comments or offer suggestions for improvement to TTC service. Senior TTC staff will be there to listen and address issues as they arise, hearing from as many members of the public as possible in the two hours allotted.

Those unable to attend can follow along via Twitter, using the hashtag #TTCtownhall. American Sign Language (ASL) interpretation and closed-captioning will be available.

PUBLIC MEETING ON TTC SECOND EXIT PLANNING PROCESS

On Tuesday, Nov. 19, the TTC is holding a public meeting on a process to evaluate options for second exits at subway stations. Second exits are planned for a number of stations, including Chester, College, Donlands, Dundas, Dundas West, Greenwood, Museum and Summerhill.

The meeting will take place at St. Paul's Bloor Street Church, 227 Bloor St. E., from 7 to 9 p.m., or go online at projects.ttc.ca.

Workers bury unidentified bodies six days after Typhoon Haiyan

Making progress.
Roads are being cleared so food and supplies can be distributed to typhoon victims

Firemen carry the body of a Typhoon Haiyan victim to a mass grave in Tacloban city, in central Philippines, on Thursday. Typhoon Haiyan, one of the most powerful storms on record, hit the country's eastern seaboard on Friday, destroying tens of thousands of buildings. VINCENT YU/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The air was thick with the stench of decay as sweating workers lowered the plastic coffins one by one into a grave the size of an Olympic swimming pool.

Scores of unidentified bodies were interred together Thursday in a hillside cemetery without any ritual — the first mass burial in Tacloban, a city shattered by last week's Typhoon Haiyan.

Six days after the disaster, some progress was being made in providing food, water and medical aid to the half-million people displaced in the Philippines. Massive bottlenecks blocking the distribution of international assistance have begun to clear.

Soldiers on trucks gave out rice and water, and chainsaw-wielding teams cut debris from blocked roads to clear the way for relief trucks in Tacloban, the capital of the hardest-hit Leyte province.

Thousands of people continued to swarm Tacloban's damaged airport, desperate to leave or to get treatment at a makeshift medical centre. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Canada could lend relief services

The Canadian Forces are considering sending a detachment of three to six Griffon helicopters to help with relief efforts in the Philippines in the wake of Typhoon Haiyan.

Officials say teams on the ground on the typhoon-ravaged island of Panay are assessing the situation and the need for helicopters.

A final decision will be made by an inter-departmental task force in Ottawa, but the military is preparing helicopters for the mission if it's decided to send them. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Iraqi Shiites marking religious ritual attacked, 41 killed

A suicide attacker and twin bomb blasts on Thursday targeted Shiites marking a sombre religious ritual in Iraq, killing at least 41 people and wounding more than 100, officials said.

The ritual, known as Ashoura, has been marred previously by massive attacks by al-Qaida and other Sunni extremists who see Shiites as heretics.

The deadliest of Thursday's attacks was in the town of al-Saadiyah, 140 kilometres northeast of Baghdad, where a suicide bomber struck a group of Shiites who were recreating the seventh-century battle of Karbala, a city in present-day Iraq. Ashoura commemorates the death of Prophet Muhammad's grandson, Imam Hussein, in that battle. The explosion killed at least 32 people and wounded 75, two police officers said.

Earlier Thursday, two bombs exploded simultaneously near tents set up to offer food and drinks to Shiites pilgrims passing through Hafriyah, a town about 50 kilometres south of the Iraqi capital, another police officer said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston. Notorious crime boss sentenced to life

Former Boston crime boss James "Whitey" Bulger was sentenced Thursday to life in prison for his murderous reign in the 1970s and '80s.

Bulger, the inspiration for Jack Nicholson's sinister character in the 2006 movie The Departed, was convicted in August in a broad racketeering indictment that included murder, extortion, money-laundering and weapons charges.

Bulger was seen for years as a Robin Hood figure who bought Thanksgiving turkeys for working-class South Boston residents and kept hard drugs out of the neighbourhood. But that image was shattered when authorities started digging up bodies more than a decade ago.

Prosecutors portrayed him as a cold-blooded, hands-on boss who killed anyone he saw as a threat, along with innocent people who happened to get in the way.

Corrupt Boston FBI agents protected Bulger for years while he worked simultaneously as a crime boss and an FBI informant who ratted out the rival New England Mafia and other crime groups.

Google rejecting government requests for data

Google released a report Thursday showing that the company received 25,879 legal requests for people's data from governments during the first half of this year. That represented a 21 per cent increase from the last half of last year.

U.S. authorities accounted for 10,918 of the requests, more than anywhere else.

The report says Google is rejecting a higher percentage of the requests.

Karlheinz Schreiber convicted of tax evasion

Karlheinz Schreiber waits for the start of his trial Thursday. DPA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guilty. Former arms-industry lobbyist was linked in corruption scandals with Brian Mulroney and former German chancellor Helmut Kohl

Karlheinz Schreiber has been convicted of tax evasion and sentenced to six and a half years in a German prison.

The DPA news agency reported on Thursday that Schreiber was found guilty in a German court in the southern state of Augsburg.

Prosecutors say Schreiber didn't declare money he received as kickbacks for the sale of helicopters to Canada's coast guard, tanks to Saudi Arabia and other arms deals.

Schreiber is already a controversial figure in Canada, where he made secret cash payments of at least $225,000 to former prime minister Brian Mulroney during their business dealings. Mulroney later testified he had made an error in judgement by accepting the money.

Allegations the 79-year-old also gave a cash donation to the former treasurer of German chancellor Helmut Kohl's party triggered a scandal that deepened with Kohl's 1999 admission he accepted off-the-book donations himself.

Conference. E-cigarettes A-OK, health experts say

E-cigarettes are almost completely free of health risks, and could save millions of lives, agreed health experts at a London summit to discuss the effects of the device.

E-cigarettes — which work by users inhaling vaporized nicotine — have enjoyed a surge of popularity since they were introduced around the turn of the decade, with around seven million users in Europe. Nations have moved to crack down, but a growing movement claims they offer more benefits than risks.

"We can recommend that smokers who cannot quit should switch to e-cigarettes," said leading researcher Dr. Konstantinos Farsalinos of the University Hospital Gasthuisberg, Belgium. The risks were less than one-1,000th of smoking tobacco, he told Metro.

Dr. Farsalinos added that the devices were the most effective tools to quit smoking. "The best alternative before was around 20 per cent. … In my research, up to 80 per cent of participants using e-cigarettes have quit." Medical journal The Lancet found them more effective than Nicorette gum and patches.

Arrested development

With careers so sluggish they are Generation Wait

U.S. mobility for young adults has fallen to the lowest level in more than 50 years as cash-strapped 20-somethings shun home-buying and refrain from major career moves.

The new Census Bureau figures underscore the impact of the sluggish economy on young people whom demographers refer to as "Generation Wait."

Burdened with college debt or toiling in low-wage jobs, they are delaying careers, marriage and having children. Waiting anxiously for their lucky break, they are doubling up with roommates or living with mom and dad. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sound familiar?

Nashville resident Jeremy Bills, 27, (pictured) has stayed put in his college town in hopes of finding a job in management consulting or human resources. Instead, he has mostly found odd jobs like pulling weeds and dog-sitting.

"I'm constantly looking for other jobs," he says. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temp Enjoys Cocktails With The Danimal

It was after 5:00 and I was getting ready to call a cab when a flower delivery arrived — a jumbo tropical parade float that put my mind immediately to rum drinks. The Danimal passed through as I was opening the envelope. "Who's that for?" he asked.

I opened it and we both read it at once: "To most beautiful temp for glorious mcfunburry dinner. return from china very soonly." I wasn't sure how to play this.

"Shannon, is there something I should know?"

"Huh?" God, not the mating panda thing again. "No!"

"That's not what I meant."

"What did you mean?"

"I saw you and Xu Junior yacking it up in the parking lot. Don't think I believe the fortune cookie English thing for a minute."

"Oh."

"Yes, oh."

I tried casually to put on my jacket. Danimal said, "Come for drinks with me. It's not a pick-up. Yes, my wife's in Florida getting her lips done, but you know that. I just don't want to go home yet, not after today."

"Where's Andy Kimura?"

"We hate each other. I don't care where he is. It's one of the reasons we're selling."

A motherlode of potential office gossip was too big to ignore. "OK, but I don't go with married guys. Period."

"It's not about that. Let's go to that bar beside McFunbury's.

"The Executive Privilege Short-Term Corporate Lodging Good Time Experience?"

"That's the place. 'The Priv.' We have a deal with them."

Drinks at The Priv started badly. Danimal guzzled a double scotch and I got stupid on a rum punch. He got philosophical about cars, the way guys do. "Kevin's Shelby depressed the crap out of me. I looked at it and all I thought of was how it's too late to fix whatever bit of the economy is left after having shipped it all off to China. Think of Michigan: ten million primates needing 2,500 calories a day sitting on a cold rock in the middle of the North American continent, with nothing to do all day. A recipe for disaster. Bartender!"

More drinks. More philosophy. "Shannon, Detroit is our existential boogieman. Detroit forces us to ponder the meaning of being alive: we wake up, we do something, we go to sleep, we repeat it about 22,000 more times, and then we die."

Drinks at The Priv started badly. Danimal guzzled a double scotch and I got stupid on a rum punch.

I looked across the bar: Sarah and Kyle were coming in and they'd obviously just been ... frisky with each other.

Danimal was being maudlin: "I don't care if you're spying on TWK for the Chinese. I just want the old system back."

Dan and Sarah locked eyes. So did Kyle and I.

"Sarah?" said Danimal ... "This place is our place. You brought someone else here?"

"What about you, Romeo?"

Kyle looked at me... "Shannon?" "It's not what you th—" I turned to Danimal, "Spying for the Chinese? Are you nuts?"

Caramba, what a mess.

FORD OVERSHADOWS, WELL, EVERYTHING

THE METRO LIST

Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca

1 Had enough of me yet? The slow moving political train wreck that is Rob Ford continues as the world watches, aghast and helpless. Drug /alcohol/escorts/assaults/ murderous threats — at this point, is there any bad thing the mayor of Toronto has not allegedly done? And yet, like the Black Knight in Monty Python and The Holy Grail, the Big Fella insists it's just a flesh wound. As one protest sign outside city hall suggests: it's time to either step aside … or fall over.

2 And then there's this typhoon. Not Hurricane Rob, but the very real and tragic Typhoon Haiyan. We all knew the worst storm ever was going to wreak havoc in the Philippines and it has. Thousands have died and more than 600,000 are homeless in the wake of the storm. Unless relief aid gets to the people who need it soon, the situation will get much, much worse. Is it just me, or is the worst thing about the Rob Ford Clown Show the fact that it's distracting us from helping those who really need help?

3 Meanwhile, back at the palace. Happy Birthday to Prince Charles, who turned 65. That's nothing. His mum is 87 and appears to be no less robust than her mum, who made it to 101. He already has the record for the longest wait to be crowned the King of England. How very strange it must be to spend your entire life waiting for your mother to die so you can assume the role you're born for. Too bad Shakespeare's not around anymore — he'd have a field day with this one.

4 He may not know art… but he sure likes Andy Warhol. Some Rich Guy (Woman?) paid $105 million US for a Warhol painting of a car crash, complete with dead body spread across the wreckage. Nice! Oddly, this wasn't the most spent on a single painting this week. That honour goes to a 1967 work by Francis Bacon called Three Studies of Lucien Freud, which sold for a world record $142.4 million US. I just went out and bought a set of paints and brushes. Gonna get me some of that.

5 Freedom Towers over Manhattan. New York is once again officially the home of North America's tallest building, the 1776-foot Freedom Tower. It replaces the Twin Towers demolished in 2001 by Osama Bin Laden's air force. Western Civilization, 1, Forces of Chaos, 0.

Chilly conditions for activists

MICHAEL SOHN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Imprisoned protesters honoured

Portraits of Greenpeace activists are frozen in ice cubes in front of the headquarters of Gazprom Germany in Berlin, Thursday, during a Greenpeace protest against the imprisonment of 28 activists, a Russian photographer and a British video journalist.

The 30 people were arrested following a protest at a Russian oil rig in the Arctic.

Among the detainees are two Canadians: Paul Ruzycki of Port Colborne, Ont., and Alexandre Paul of Montreal.

In late October, Russia dropped piracy charges, which carry a sentence of up to 15 years. The 30 are now charged with hooliganism, which carries a maximum sentence of seven years.

Paul McCartney asks for resolution

Paul McCartney is urging Russian President Vladimir Putin to release the captors.

In a letter addressed "Dear Vladimir," the former Beatle tells Putin that he wrote the song Back in the U.S.S.R in the 1960s, "back when it wasn't fashionable for English people to say nice things about your country."

Quoting the song's line "Gee it's good to be back home," McCartney asks: "Could you make that come true for the Greenpeace prisoners?"

"…It would be great if this misunderstanding could be resolved and the protesters can be home with their families in time for Christmas…" @PaulMcCartney tweeted Thursday. He posted the letter to his website.

Among some of the better games released to the App Store last month are an addictive noir mystery, classic pinball based on a classic franchise and an absolute gem of an RPG parody.

CONTRIBUTED

Device 6:

The best slice of interactive fiction to show up on iOS in quite a while, Device 6 puts you in control of Anna after she wakes up in a mysterious castle. As you guide her from room to room, the story and gameplay unfold through text that's creatively written to take advantage of the iPhone's capabilities. The story, the sound design and the puzzles — everything about this game is beautifully polished. (iOS/$3.99)

Star Wars Pinball 2:

From the developers of Zen Pinball, the first Star Wars tables that came out a few months ago are being complemented by a few new releases. If you've never played a Zen pinball game before, you're missing out on some of the best physics and highest concepts ever used in digital tables. Purchasing the app gets you one table with the option to buy others. For my money, they don't get better than Starfighter Assault and The Clone Wars. (iOS/$1.99)

Doom & Destiny:

If you can get over the feeling that you're being gently mocked the entire time, this parody of classic role-playing games that features four friends who somehow get sucked into a fantasy world where everybody is under the impression that they're legendary heroes sent to save a princess … of course. The controls are tight, the battles are varied and the story plays out like a comedy script, and not just a bunch of in-jokes. However, we're still unsure if the litany of grammar errors are part of the gag or actual sloppiness. (iOS/$2.99)

Cronenberg

Have you ever wondered what a Mugwump looks like up close? How about the telepod that transformed Jeff Goldblum from man to insect? If you are a fan of Naked Lunch, The Fly or of David Cronenberg in general, you'll want to make like the Reel Guys and head to the TIFF Bell Lightbox in Toronto to check out an elaborate and comprehensive exhibit detailing the director's storied career. The show runs until Jan. 19, 2014, and presents an unprecedented look in to the mind and career of one of our greatest filmmakers. To prime the pump, the Reel Guys suggest some must-see Cronenberg films if you can't make it to the exhibit.

Dead Ringers is a creepy Hitchcockian thriller with Third Reich overtones. CONTRIBUTED

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

An ode to Cronenberg

Look back. Visionary filmmaker gets his own exhibit in Toronto and the Reel Guys take a walk through his filmography to pick their favourites

Richard: I am an unabashed fan of David Cronenberg. I felt like a kid in a candy store — or should that be an entomologist at a larvae convention? — at the exhibition and I regularly revisit his movies on DVD. One that always gets overlooked is Spider, a trip into the mind of a severely mentally disturbed man starring Ralph Fiennes. Fiennes is great in a virtually dialogue free performance but it is Miranda Richardson as several characters — all the women in Spider's life — who really steals the show. It's a spooky and cerebral thriller.

Mark: Spider was never one of my favourites although it does have a great twist ending. My thoughts on the Cronenberg oeuvre — and they're almost all great — is how ahead of his time he's been on our relationship to technology. When Videodrome came out, it was dismissed by a lot of critics. Now we live its reality every day. Same with Existenz. Both visionary films that prove how far ahead of the curve the director can be. But I think the quintessential Cronenberg film is Dead Ringers — a creepy Hitchcockian thriller that has Third Reich overtones of medical experiments and twins — and also because Cronenberg himself looks like a gynecologist harboring a terrible secret.

RC: I also have a soft spot for The Brood. It's probably Cronenberg's most traditional horror film, and I take delight in loving a movie Leonard Maltin rated a "Bomb." Featuring Oliver Reed as an experimental psychotherapist, Samantha Eggar as a fetus-licking mother and murderous psychoplasmic offspring, it is the very stuff that nightmares are made of. It's lesser seen than The Fly or Dead Zone and way more down-and-dirty, but for sheer scares it's hard to beat.

MB: I like the brood but I prefer the Dead Zone even though legend has it that Cronenberg regretted doing a movie with all the incumbent studio interference. Know what? It still works. But Cronenberg will forever be one of my favourite directors if for no other reason than breathing life into Naked Lunch. A book I should have loved but could never get through — until I saw the film.

RC: He's audacious. He made an unfilmable book filmable and opened a lot of people's minds to reading author William S. Burroughs.

MB: He did the same thing with Cosmopolis, although I must say I didn't need to see Rabid to appreciate Marilyn Chambers.

The Book Thief

Director. Brian Percival

Stars. Geoffrey Rush, Sophie Nelisse

Based on an international bestseller, The Book Thief is an impassioned but understated piece of award-striving cinema focused on a young illiterate child coming of age in wartime Germany. Despite the familiarity of the emotional themes that make up The Book Thief, rising Canadian star Sophie Nelisse (Monsieur Lazhar) particularly molds the melodrama into moving entertainment and Geoffrey Rush is thoroughly watchable as the warm foster dad who teaches her to read.

STEVE GOW

Drama

Geography Club

Director. Gary Entin

Stars. Cameron Deane Stewart, Justin Deely

Russell (Stewart) is a high school student navigating his first homosexual relationship. It's a weighty subject, but one that isn't explored very seriously in Geography Club. The film focuses mainly on Russell's struggles to keep his sexual identity hidden — he dodges a popular girl's multiple attempts to have sex with him; he sneaks kisses from his football player boyfriend in the equipment shed — and far less on why Russell feels he can't come out. Ultimately, Geography Club just scratches the surface of the complex issues it claims to explore.

REGAN REID

Documentary

Dear Mr. Watterson

Director. Joel Allen Schroeder

Stars. Berkeley Breathed, Seth Green

It's pretty difficult to go wrong making a documentary about as beloved a comic-strip as Calvin & Hobbes but filmmaker Joel Allen Schroeder's own exuberant fondness for the cartoon only cripples Dear Mr. Watterson. An analysis of the now-defunct strip and its elusive creator, the documentary begins with plenty of fun-filled tributes but eventually turns repetitious and rambling. Sure, the film's intention is well-meaning but it's not nearly as insightful as it wants to be. STEVE GOW

Documentary

When Jews Were Funny

Director. Alan Zweig

Stars. Shelley Berman, Howie Mandel

It may have won the best Canadian feature award at this year's Toronto International Film Fest but When Jews Were Funny will almost surely perplex many viewers. In the documentary, Alan Zweig investigates if/how Jewish comedy has evolved but even as he uncovers some clever personalities, many of his interviews supporting the film's thesis end in gridlock. As such, you may not actually feel you learned much at all but you'll still likely laugh along the way. STEVE GOW

Comedy

The Best Man Holiday

Director. Malcolm D. Lee

Stars. Monica Calhoun, Morris Chestnut

The Sullivans, NFL legend Lance (Morris Chestnut) and wife Mia (Monica Calhoun), plan on a happy Christmas holiday when they invite their closest friends — Taye Diggs, Nia Long, Regina Hall and Terrence Howard — over for the Christmas holidays. Instead, old rivalries flare before a tragedy reminds everyone what friendship is all about. This is a film built for audiences who enjoy the vulgar rowdiness of reality TV and the comforting clichés of soap opera storytelling.

RICHARD CROUSE

Drama

How I Live Now

Director. Kevin MacDonald

Stars. Saoirse Rohan, Tom Holland

Manhattanite Daisy is shuttled off to her relatives' English farm on the eve of a third world war. She bristles against her step-cousins' carefree attitudes, but comes around after falling for eldest Edmond as fighting breaks out. Separated by the army, Daisy and little cousin Piper set out for home in hopes of finding their family. Filled with hauntingly beautiful imagery, director Kevin MacDonald paints a vivid portrait of Daisy and Edmond's blossoming relationship, but fails to flesh out her anxiety issues, key to understanding her personal struggles. IAN GORMELY

Drama

Short Term 12

Director. Destin Cretton

Stars. Brie Larson, John Gallagher Jr., Kaitlyn Dever

In his debut narrative feature, director Destin Cretton follows the turbulent affairs of counselors and at-risk teenagers at a live-in home. The affecting Short Term 12, which won the Grand Jury and Audience awards at SXSW earlier this year, stars Brie Larson as Grace, a supercounselor whose troubled past is ignited by a charge with similar history, and further complicated by an unexpected impasse with her boyfriend (John Gallagher Jr.). Larson's tour-de-force performance carries this touching indie drama.

Pratt ponders parenting pain

Delivery Man. Actor takes on role of stay-at-home dad in latest film and feels for the moms

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Chris Pratt, left, and Vince Vaughn star in Delivery Man, which opens next Friday. CONTRIBUTED

Chris Pratt has become something of an incredible growing-and-shrinking machine lately, getting super-buff for Zero Dark Thirty and then getting impressively out-of-shape and flabby for his latest, Delivery Man, in which he co-stars as Vince Vaughn's pessimistic friend and hapless attorney. And after that, he got into superhero shape for next year's Marvel spectacle Guardians of the Galaxy. It all sounds very painful, but Pratt is OK with you laughing at his pain.

In my opinion, you had all the best lines in the movie.
Oh, thanks. That's nice. It's kind of written that way. The character's really funny. Vince's character comes from such a hopeful place, but I think maybe the best comedy comes from a place of hopelessness, and that's where my character is at. He's just a despondent, sad, miserable type of guy, and that's where you mine the best comedy. I think to me, that's the ultimate accomplishment in acting, to be in a place of such utter pain but people find it hilarious. But hopefully not all of my pain is funny. Like the only pain that's funny is the pain that doesn't really hurt. If a brick falls on someone's head and then their brains fall out and they die, you're not going to laugh.

Unless you're a sociopath.
Right, unless you're sick. Unless you threw the brick and you're insane (laughs). But if a brick falls and hits someone in the head, and they just keep walking and pretend like it didn't happen, that is hilarious. It's irony, you know? Because it's what you don't expect. It's pain minus trauma, and I think that you get the sense that this character is going to be all right, and that's why you're willing to laugh at his pain.

It looked like all four of his kids were around the same age.
Yeah, we were busy. There was a whole back-story I had to come up with, where maybe (he and his wife) met in law school or something, she got a really great job that brought us out and we bought an apartment in Brooklyn, had one kid, she said, "If you stay home with this kid, I can continue to work and become partner." I was like, "Great, do it. I'm a progressive man, I can handle being a stay-at-home dad." And then next thing you know, four years later we have four kids, the passion's gone, I've gained weight and she's sleeping with one of her partners and she's the major breadwinner. It's the classic story, but the genders are reversed. It's like what so many men since the '50s have been doing to these poor mothers.

A new poised, mature Jennifer Lawrence? Not likely

Celeb deportment. The Hunger Games star really meant to be less goofy this time around, but as she tells Metro, it's not working out

NED EHRBAR
ned.ehrbar@metro.lu

I love the haircut.
Thank you. I know, I'm like a cat back from the groomers where I'm so insecure. I need as much positive reinforcement as I can get.

As soon as something went up about your haircut, someone online chimed in with, "It must be a wig."
Yeah, I know. That's just how it works. The most important thing is to not read it, Jennifer! I'm really good at it. The only time that it does happen is when I'm with friends. I have two friends that are avid Googlers. They basically do what I would do if I didn't have the self-esteem. They're like, "What is everybody saying about Jennifer?" It's sweet; they care.

When my Dior photos came out, I hadn't seen them so they looked them up on whatever website with all these comments, and I saw the comments and I was like, "I can't stop myself!" I started scrolling and it was like, "She's so conceited!" "She's a pig and I hope she dies!"

Never read the comments.
Exactly. I was like, "I'm sorry if I look conceited — I understand — in Dior couture clothes. But I didn't get to keep them. Why would you want me to die?" But that's just how the world works. I'm not going to get worked up about it.

Can I tell you the most ridiculous thing I've read about you?
Yes!

There was this inside Hollywood post on Reddit where someone wrote, "Jennifer Lawrence employs a professional joke-writer."
Employs a professional joke-writer? Oh my God, that is my biggest fear with this new (Hunger Games movie), because we're doing (press junkets) again.

Last night I was laying in bed going, "Everybody's obviously going to get sick of it, the goofy, crazy (stuff). It was maybe funny for one season, but if it just continues everybody's going to be like, 'OK, calm down.'

So I, like, tried to make a conscious effort to be poised and mature this time around. I was like, "I have to change myself."

How's that working out?
It's not. But I just have this thought that everybody's going to think it was perfectly planned. That actually goes into my nightmares. If I had read that, I would've been like, 'Oh my God, how do I prove that it's not true?'

But it will exhaust me. I'm so anxious and high-strung, and I'm such a worrier anyway that I've gotten good about making a wall of the things that I can't (deal with). I'm like, "I can't even begin to worry about you right now. I'm already worried about cancer."

Pixie 'do

"I know, I'm like a cat back from the groomers where I'm so insecure."
Jennifer Lawrence on her new haircut

I worry about cancer.
Yeah, everybody does. And then worrying gives you cancer. Everything does.

You've been very outspoken about body image issues and negativity.
We need to go easy on each other. And the media is so responsible for it. The worst part is that they pretend they aren't responsible for it. They're like, "It's the real world." Everybody puts that defence up of, "Oh, this is just the way the world works." But what if we said that in the '40s and '50s when black people had to use different bathrooms? "Sorry, welcome to the real world." Until you stand up for something and change it, the world isn't going to change.

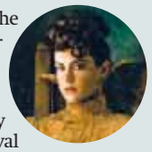
Meet the new kids

New face: Finnick Odair (played by Sam Claflin)
Who he is: An attractive and agile former contestant not above using his looks to get what he wants.
Downside of popularity: "As much as there was a fair bit of negativity when I was cast initially, I think now a few people have been turned, and my goal is to obviously turn the world. That's what Finnick's goal is, as well, so I guess that I have that in common with him," says Claflin. "Approaching a character that is described as some kind of god was kind of tough, to say the very least. I had to go through some huge physical transformations, (including) a shaved chest."



New face: Johanna Mason (played by Jenna Malone)
Who she is: An ax-wielding loose-cannon of a Hunger Games victor with a flair for the dramatic.
What makes her special: "What I thought was so amazing about Johanna Mason is that she doesn't sugar-coat and she is hard core and truthful and violent and angry, and all of those things are not just cool aspects of her," says Malone. "I don't really think there's anything that's (just for the sake of being) a badass thing. I think it's actually a survival technique, and I think that's a really interesting thing to talk about for young women; to understand that they can take on tools and personality traits that may not be their own, but they can use them ... to sort of elevate themselves in the world."

THE CATCHING FIRE GUIDE

The Hunger Games sequel finds hero Katniss Everdeen back in the arena, competing with ex-winners. Here's what else you need to know.

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

Why we need Katniss

Elizabeth Banks on the lack of strong female heroes: What makes The Hunger Games great, to hear Elizabeth Banks explain it, is that Katniss Everdeen is a "badass female protagonist." And the actress who plays her isn't too shabby, either. "Jennifer is an amazing actress who gets amazing roles, and I wish that she gets them always and forever for the rest of her life," says Banks, who co-stars as fancy-pants minder Effie Trinket in the film series. "I've been doing it a little longer, and I know there are a lot of girlfriend roles out there and a lot of wives and a lot of supporting roles that are less interesting than Katniss.

"I hope that she gets to play Katniss-level roles for ever and ever. They're rare, and I think with this movie, (and) Gravity — I'm so excited to be seeing such amazing, strong female role models in the movies for the 50 per cent of the moviegoers who are ladies."

The new director

Catching Fire finds a new man behind the camera, with Francis Lawrence taking over for Gary Ross.

"One of the things that I wanted to make sure of was that there was still an esthetic unity to all of the movies," he says. "I thought Gary did an amazing job with the world-building in The Hunger Games, so we worked with the same production designer to make sure that the Capitol was still built from the same architecture, that District 12 still had the same almost 1930s Appalachia feel."

"He was able to expand the world while still staying very true to a character-based, emotionally honest approach," says producer Nina Jacobson, who has Lawrence directing the next two films.

Dystopia: So hot right now

Books, movies and TV shows angling to be the next Hunger Games:
Can't get enough of the dark, foreboding future of The Hunger Games? Well, plenty of authors and filmmakers are hoping so, as there are a number of other properties out there tapping into our current obsession with a bleak future.

Divergent: Both a book series and a forthcoming (presumed) film franchise, this one also has a plucky female protagonist, Tris, in a future world divided up into sections — this time by moral code. You can read the books or wait for the first film, starring Shailene Woodley and Theo James, in March.

Revolution: NBC's series about survivors of a world suddenly gone electricity-free is well into its second season, and even features a young girl who's handy with a crossbow.

The Maze Runner: Think of it as The Hunger Games but without the girl. The boys in the mysterious "glade" contend with monsters and mazes in search of freedom. Again, if reading isn't your thing, there's a movie adaptation out next year.

Proxy: Alex London's novel also takes place in a nightmare future U.S. of sorts, this time with the Haves employing the debt-laden Have-Nots to suffer their punishments for them as "proxies." And on top of all that, its main proxy protagonist, Syd, is gay. There's a second book due next spring.

The NBC series Revolution is now in its second season. CONTRIBUTED

Talk about a revolution

Donald Sutherland and Jeffrey Wright discuss the movie's politics:
The Hunger Games is entertainment, sure, but there are some interesting political messages buried in there for young audiences. And for Donald Sutherland, who co-stars as the villainous President Snow, that was the real appeal. "It was essential for me personally that I somehow found my way to become a part of this because it more clearly represents the dangers of an oligarchy of the privileged than anything I've seen for a long, long time," he says.

Jeffrey Wright, who joins the series in Catching Fire, thinks the political power of The Hunger Games goes beyond warnings about the one per cent run amok. "I think what's fascinating about the movie is that it's kind of this universal spectrum that allows anyone to insert themselves into the world and really express their own perspective and their own politics within it," he says. "The politics for the young people in the movie are very simple. They're politics around hope, family, security, love and all of these very simple, universal themes that we all relate to."

The best of JFK

Cliff Robertson

PT 109, 1963
Released while Kennedy was still in office, the film starred Robertson depicting Kennedy as a Navy lieutenant in command of Motor Torpedo Boat PT 109 during the Second World War. JFK selected Robertson after viewing his screen test.

Greg Kinnear

The Kennedys (Reelz miniseries), 2011
When the four-time Emmy-winning The Kennedys made its world premiere on REELZ, it brought in record viewership for the cable network, reaching 17.5 million viewers in its first month. Katie Holmes played Jackie Kennedy.

Brett Stimely

Watchman, 2009; Transformers: Dark of the Moon, 2011; Kill the Dictator, 2013; Parkland, 2013
Stimely, who has played Kennedy more than anyone, recalled meeting JFK's niece and sister-in-law, Rory and Ethel Kennedy at the 2012 Sundance HBO party for their doc Ethel. He said, "Ethel thanked me for doing a great job portraying Jack."

Bruce Greenwood

Thirteen Days, 2000
Playing Kennedy during the Cuban missile crisis, Greenwood said he wanted to reflect what might have been JFK's state of mind "and the moment of clarity he had that (Soviet leader Nikita) Khrushchev was as human and terrified of the potential consequences as was Kennedy."

William Devane

The Missiles of October (ABC movie), 1974
Devane bore a striking resemblance to the president in the television docudrama, which chronicled the Kennedy administration's handling of the Cuban missile crisis. It was loosely based on Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy's book Thirteen Days.

Martin Sheen

Kennedy (NBC miniseries), 1983
Before playing Josiah "Jed" Bartlet, the fictional president on The West Wing, Sheen starred in the five-hour miniseries chronicling JFK's presidency. It aired just two days before the 20th anniversary of the president's assassination. Kelsey Grammar also appeared in it.

TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

A wide range of actors have played president John F. Kennedy in the movies and on TV, starting even before his assassination 50 years ago. Here, the most memorable:

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

James Marsden

Lee Daniels' The Butler, 2013
Marsden prepared for the role by listening to podcasts of JFK's speeches, and yet getting the Kennedy accent right was "virtually impossible," the actor told Conan O'Brien. "It was a daunting thing stepping into those shoes," he said. After 11 weeks in theatres, the film had made more than $138 million worldwide.

Rob Lowe

Killing Kennedy (National Geographic Channel miniseries), aired Nov. 10, 2013.
While researching JFK for the role, Lowe, a father of two, said he was moved by a recording of Kennedy giving dictation when he's interrupted by John, Jr. "Their conversation together was priceless," said Lowe.

Tim Matheson

Jackie Bouvier Kennedy Onassis (CBS miniseries), 2000
Playing JFK in the two-part miniseries, which attracted 10 million viewers, was an honour, said Matheson, but also a challenge to find the real person beneath the glamour. "So it was trying to find those human moments beneath all of the monumental things that he said and did."

William Peterson

The Rat Pack (HBO movie), 1998
A dashing Peterson embodied JFK in the film focusing on the famous entertainers' circle, offering a glimpse into JFK and Frank Sinatra's wavering friendship. Ray Liotta starred as Sinatra, Joe Mantegna as Dean Martin, Don Cheadle as Sammy Davis, Jr., Angus Macfadyen as Peter Lawford and Bobby Slayton as Joey Bishop.

Stephen Collins

A Woman Named Jackie (NBC Miniseries), 1991
While recreating Kennedy's inaugural address for this Emmy-winning miniseries, Collins recalled seeing a man who had stopped to watch the filming. "He took off his hat and stared in my direction as if he were seeing a ghost," said Collins.

Patrick Dempsey

J.F.K.: Reckless Youth (ABC movie), 1993
Before saving lives as Dr. Derek "McDreamy" Shepard on Grey's Anatomy, Dempsey wooed 10.8 million viewers as young Kennedy. The movie looked at JFK's childhood years, his young adulthood and his nomination for Congress.

A polished-up formerly-lost Peter Gabriel track, lots of talented banging from Rakede and the Russian Police Choir's Daft Punk cover

Courage

Courage/Peter Gabriel

While this formerly lost track turned up on the 25th anniversary reissue of the So album last year, it's now been refurbished, added to and remixed. Welcome back to 1986

Bitte Bitte/ Rakede

A totally acoustic performance involving a German band, six beer bottles and lots of banging on a wooden table. The best bit comes when one guy sucks in some helium for his vocal part at about the 1:04 mark.

Get Lucky/ Russian Police Choir

A rehearsal for a Kremlin concert features a Daft Punk song and was posted on YouTube. They win the Internet this week.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Your honour, I never cuddled with that woman!

PAT HEALY
Metro World News

Alec Baldwin can sleep easier at night knowing his stalker is behind bars.

On Thursday, a New York City judge found Canadian actress Genevieve Sabourin, 41, guilty of stalking, attempted aggravated harassment, harassment and attempted contempt of court. She was sentenced to six months in jail. The trial was dramatic, even by New York City standards. The two did seem to have some history: Baldwin admitted on the stand he had dinner with Sabourin three years ago at an Upper East Side restaurant but said it was to give her "career advice." She claims that afterwards, the two had sex and then "cuddled," which the 30 Rock actor denies (both the sex and cuddling). Baldwin allegedly said, "I make the best omelettes in the world and I'd be happy to make you omelettes every morning for the rest of your life." He also promised her a trip to meet Richard Gere. Hello single girl fairy tale! But then once he met his current wife, Hilaria, the fairy tale ended. And that's when her stalking began, with frantic calls, emails and even uninvited appearances at his house.

Holiday gift guide

Tech the halls

Toys that will tickle the toddlers on your list

MIKE YAWNEY
For Metro

Children's toys are getting much more high-tech. Watch your little one's eyes light up in delight when they unwrap these gifts this holiday season.

Furby Boom — $59.97
This hot new toy has even more personality than previous models. Expect more interaction, emotions, plus new artificial intelligence. A polished new iOS and Android companion app will have kids feeding their Furby, playing games with them and looking after virtual baby Furbies. Warning to parents — you may need earplugs since Furby talks ... a lot.

Sphero 2.0 — $129.99
A robotic ball you control with your Android or iOS device. With speeds at seven-feet-per-second, Sphero 2.0 is great for pulling off stunts around the house or outside. Internal lights illuminate the ball as it rolls, plus a wide variety of games can be downloaded to your device, making sure the fun never ends. Add the "nubby" skin to give it even more grip.

Hasbro Zapped Games — various prices
Bring the family together with a new twist on classic board games. Place your iOS device in the middle of the board and watch as the games come to life. Stuck in jail in Monopoly? Play a mini-game to get out for free. Games include Monopoly, The Game of Life, Battleship and many more.

Nintendo 2DS — $129.99
The newest member of Nintendo's hand-held family. All the features of the 3DS minus the 3D viewing. The new form factor doesn't fold like the original, but it's still great for gaming on the go. Compatible with all existing 3DS titles.

Philips Friends of Hue Lightstrips — $89.95
Are your kids afraid of the dark? Stick these lightstrips under their bed or in their bedroom to give a soft glow at night. Pick from one of more than 16 million colours and control the brightness using the app designed for your iOS device (requires Philips Hue Bridge accessory).

Belkin Lego Builder Case for iPod — $29.99
A protective case for your child's iPod with a twist. The back contains a Lego base plate, allowing your child to add pieces, customizing their own case. Available in a variety of colours.

Nerf Firevision — $19.99 and up
Play football in the dark. This football contains microprism technology that glows in the dark when kids wear the special Firevision frames. The glow can be seen from more than 100 feet away. No charging required. A Firevision Flyer Disc and hyper Bounce Ball are also available.

LeapReader — $59.99
Give the gift of learning. This electronic pen will help your youngster learn to read and write while having fun. When the pen is used alongside special LeapReader books (sold separately), it can sound out letters, words, and teach children to form letters and numbers with stroke-by-stroke guidance.

Dice+ — $39.99
A cool way to enjoy digital versions of board games without losing the pleasure of throwing dice. This digital die works with interactive board games on your Android or iOS tablet. Roll the Dice+ and watch as the result is sent directly to the game. The best part? No cheating.

Laser Pegs — various prices
Plastic building blocks that light up. Each plastic piece contains a tiny LED light that feeds the next with a low-voltage current, letting you create amazing light up creations. Purchase building sets or make your own creations.

iHeart Diary Electronic Locket — $24.99
A great gift for young writers. This electronic locket sends a secret digital code to your iPad to unlock the diary app. Add pictures, drawings and memories, or speak directly into the locket and have it record your notes for you. There is also a button to erase all personal content, just in case.

Furby Boom — $59.97, clockwise, from top centre, LeapReader — $59.99, Nintendo 2DS — $129.99, Nerf Firevision — $19.99 and up, Sphero 2.0 — $129.99, Laser Pegs — various prices, Belkin Lego Builder Case for iPod — $29.99, and iHeart Diary Electronic Locket — $24.99.

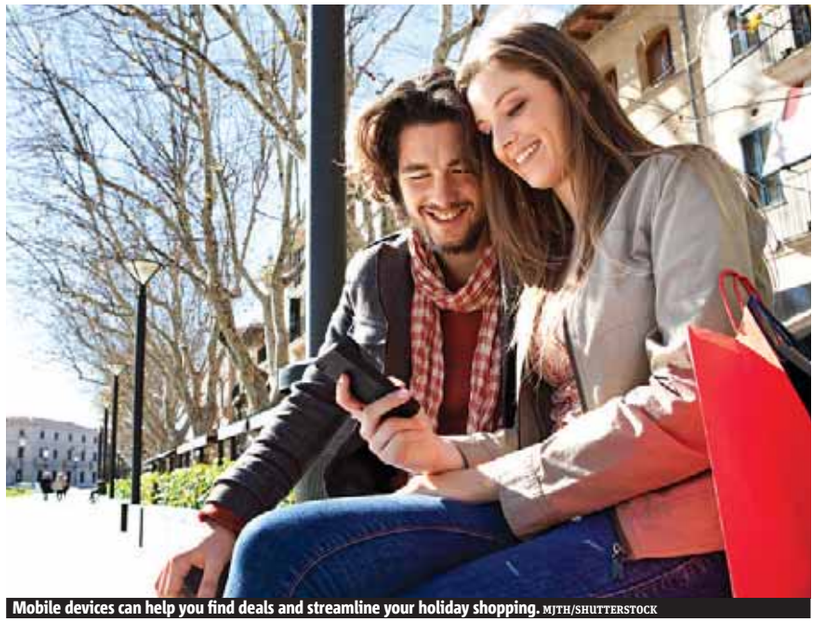
Why you will love it: Handy for quick online shopping — you are less likely to get frustrated looking for a loyalty card.

Looking to track gift-giving lists and budgets?
App: mGifts
Available on: iTunes (iPhone, iPad)
How it helps: Fully-customizable gift list and budget tracking capabilities for holidays and all year. Organize gift lists by groups (e.g., family, co-workers) and track the status of a gift from idea to purchase to wrapped to given.
Cost: $4.99 (occasionally on sale for less)
Why you will love it: Password protected so gift ideas are for your eyes only. Bonus — it syncs to iCloud, making data available on multiple devices.
App: Gifted
Available on: Android devices
How it helps: Flexible, customizable app to keep track of gifts, gift ideas and important events for your contacts during holidays and year round.
Cost: Free
Why you will love it: Scans a barcode to the list and takes pictures of gifts. Gifts also protected by a pass code.



Mobile devices can help you find deals and streamline your holiday shopping. MJTH/SHUTTERSTOCK

Looking for favourite retailer apps?
App: Amazon Mobile
Available on: iPhone, iPad, Android, Android Tablet, Windows Phone
Cost: Free
Why you will love it: Easy access to find a gift recipient's wish list, read reviews and make quick purchases from amazon.ca.

App: Canadian Tire
Available on: iPhone, iPad, Android, Blackberry
Cost: Free
Why you will love it: Exclusive early access to the weekly flyer, which has a great functionality to add items to a shopping list and check inventory at nearby stores.

App: Indigo
Available on: iPhone, iPod Touch, Android
Cost: Free
Why you will love it: Convenient scan feature to scan a product bar code and buy it directly in the app, shipping it to your home or to someone as a gift.

Top toy websites

Here is a list of websites that have put together their own list of top Christmas toys.

- Fat Brain Toys — As the name implies, this site specializes in educational toys. But, of course, these are really fun and cool toys that are also helpful to intellectual development. In other words, kids love them.
- Amazon — Amazon has extensive information on what people are buying. It provides several different lists of toys, such as the "Amazon.com 2013 Holiday Toy List: The Hottest Gifts for Kids" and the "Most Gifted Items in Toys and Games" list.
- Squidoo Lens — This site has toy ideas in 12 separate categories. If you know the type of toy you want to buy, such as remote-control toys or construction sets, this site will take you to a list of the top toys of that kind.
- The Telegraph UK — This site has an intriguing list of toys, including an interesting prediction of what will be the No. 1 Christmas toy this year.
- Christmas Toy Site 2013 — This is an enjoyable site with a lot of content, so if you want more information, or reviews of products, this is a great resource.
- Examiner — This site helpfully lists the toy of the year in 14 different categories, such as activity toy, preschool toy, and girl toy.

Lending a helping hand

Free time. There are myriad ways to contribute your time and resources during the holidays

Since there is a need for warm clothing in the winter, you may want to join a local group that collects and distributes clothing. MANGOSTOCK/SHUTTERSTOCK

JANE DOUCET
For Metro

When the holidays roll around, many Canadians are facing several days off work and wondering what to do with their free time after the festivities are over.

How about lending a helping hand?

"The holiday season is a great time to reflect on a volunteer effort that you might like to begin now and continue to do throughout the year," said Paula Speevak-Sladowski, the director of programs, policy and applied research at Volunteer Canada.

If you were thinking about serving a meal at a homeless shelter, walking dogs for an animal rescue group or singing carols at a seniors' home, don't wait until the last minute to sign up.

"Each organization has a volunteer screening process that can sometimes take weeks to complete," Speevak-Sladowski said. "To avoid being disappointed, make your inquiries early."

So what are some common volunteer needs around the holidays? During the winter many adults and kids need warm clothing, so you can either donate coats, snowsuits, boots, gloves and hats that you no longer wear from your own closet or join a local group that collects and distributes them.

Food banks also hold drives at this time of year — you can donate money in person or online or buy non-perishable goods to help stock the shelves.

The most important factor is to figure out what you have to offer, then find somewhere that can use your talent. If you are crafty, you could make and drop off decorations at a seniors' residence. If you like to knit, you could join a knitting group that donates hats and mittens to a children's hospital gift shop.

There are myriad ways to contribute your time and resources.

"You can volunteer as an individual, as a family, at your workplace, in a school or with an organization," Speevak-Sladowski said.

If you aren't sure where to start, two helpful websites are volunteer.ca and getinvolved.ca.

And don't worry if you aren't keen on your volunteering effort the first time you try it.

"If you didn't have the experience you were hoping for, keep looking until you find the right fit," Speevak-Sladowski said. "When everyone's needs are met, volunteering benefits everyone."

THE JOURNEY OF A LIFETIME

PLAN CANADA'S GIFTS OF HOPE

Jillian Mojeski visits with schoolchildren at a rural primary school in Rwanda.

When Jillian Mojeski travelled 11,000 kilometres to Rwanda, she learned that changing the world can be as easy as giving a Gift of Hope.

She and her colleagues at Klick Health had donated gifts of livestock through Plan Canada's Gifts of Hope, and those animals were given to families in some of the world's poorest countries to help create self-sufficiency and grow community cooperatives.

"It's so easy to give and my small donation made such a huge difference," Mojeski says about the impact of her gift.

Mojeski made the journey to rural villages to see the community development projects made possible by contributions from both her and her colleagues. She met schoolchildren eager to learn in safe, hygienic schools, and young women and men learning plumbing and construction at vocational training centres. She talked with pig co-operative farmers and families thrilled to have clean water thanks to the generosity of Mojeski and other donors.

"There's such a sense of pride," Mojeski says. "People are really excited to demonstrate projects your donations funded. It was an opportunity to shake someone's hand and close the loop in the contribution."

Mojeski is one of thousands of Canadians who will choose to give Gifts of Hope this holiday season. When you buy a Gift of Hope, your contribution supports real projects — like livestock co-operatives, clean water and education projects — in the communities where Plan Canada works, and these gifts change real lives.

"Sitting at your computer, clicking yes, thinking you are making a difference – it's not even close to the experience of seeing the actual impact for yourself," Mojeski says. "Now I realize that a small donation of an animal represents more than just food or a business opportunity.

Muteteri Ancille, a member of Rwanda's Abakoranabushake pig co-operative, proudly shows visitors how their donations have made a difference.

A pig co-operative can empower an entire community."

Plan Canada works with children and communities in 69 countries around the globe, helping them to create a better life and a better future for their children.

"In rural communities, livestock is often the first step to household economic security," says Sangita Patel, Plan Canada's director of program management. "It starts with families selling things like eggs or milk. With extra cash, mothers can better care for their families. There's money for more nutritious food, medicine and school supplies. Young women in some communities have formed co-operatives with livestock, creating leadership opportunities, increasing their confidence and self-esteem."

This holiday season, generous Canadians can make a profound difference for children and communities around the world. There are more than 40 Gifts of Hope that support international development programs. Projects in the areas of livestock, education, health, water and livelihood help families break the cycle of poverty and open up new opportunities for their children.

You can also support Plan Canada's Because I am a Girl initiative by choosing from 15 gifts that support the rights of girls. By purchasing these gifts, you are supporting the work Plan Canada does that directly benefits girls and women.

"The Gifts of Hope program is perfect for the holiday season," Mojeski says. "Rather than giving a gift that will just end up in the closet a few weeks later, you can give a meaningful gift that will change the lives of the people who need it most."

A Gift of Hope gives to both the giver and the recipient. A gift can help teach and nurture philanthropy in children, create global awareness and remind us all that the greatest joy lies not in receiving but in giving.

During her trip, Plan Canada's Gifts of Hope program exposed Mojeski to both personal and global change. The experience opened her eyes to the value of sharing what we have to improve the lives of others.

"I will be involved with Plan Canada for the rest of my life," she says. "With Gifts of Hope, you're empowering people to change their lives and that really is a gift of love."

REALLY WILD GIFTS FOR ANIMAL LOVERS

Tired of giving the same old gifts year after year?

Let's face it, most of us have a hard time finding a meaningful gift for the ones we love, but the World Society for the Protection of Animals (WSPA) has the perfect solution.

Really Wild Gifts are symbolic gifts offered by WSPA for the animal lovers in your life. By purchasing a Really Wild Gift you will be supporting WSPA's work to tackle some of the world's most intense and large-scale animal welfare issues.

From giving a captive bear a new home in a sanctuary, to ending cruel intensive farming of pigs or setting up essential vaccinations clinics for dogs, WSPA exists to create a world where animal welfare matters and animal cruelty has ended.

Start with the bear essentials — gifts range from less than $20 to $100 group gifts the whole office can feel good about.

• $15 could buy nourishing food like fruit, bread, vegetables, honey and nuts for a rescued bear.

• $40 could help give urgent veterinary care to a bear on arrival at a WSPA-funded sanctuary.

CONTRIBUTED

WSPA Canada is a registered charity and doesn't receive government funding. Without WSPA Canada's generous donors, the organization's programs, which provide a lifeline to so many desperate animals, would not exist. Really Wild Gifts is one way supporters can help WSPA Canada end animal cruelty and suffering.

Shop today and receive exclusive access to customizable e-cards, desktop wallpaper, holiday gift tags and Really Wild DIY origami.

Visit ReallyWildGifts.ca to view WSPA Canada's holiday catalogue.

Give Comfort. Care.
Respect. Sanctuary.
Bears are some of the world's best-loved animals, but sadly thousands of bears endure a life of suffering. They are imprisoned in bear farms and poached for their claws and fur. WSPA campaigns to protect bears from abuse and funds sanctuaries to give suffering bears new and peaceful lives.
This holiday, please consider purchasing a Really Wild Gift and help move us one step closer to a world where animals are protected – not used, abused, neglected or sold.

THE TRUE MEANING OF THE SEASON

TIME TO THINK ABOUT CHARITABLE GIVING

ISTOCK/THINKSTOCK

With all the holiday frenzy, it may be easy to forget the importance of charitable giving.

We may be bombarded with requests, but do we actually open our wallets and support those in need? How do we decide on which charities to support?

And considering all the other expenses at this time of year, why would we choose the holidays to make our donations?

"People make donations throughout the year, but charitable giving does start to rise in late October and continues to increase right up to Dec. 31," says Marina Glogovac, president and chief executive officer of CanadaHelps, a registered charity with a mission to help other charities, providing affordable, online fundraising technology for charities, and offering a destination for Canadians to give to the charities of their choice.

Glogovac believes this is partially out of habit and partially for tax benefits, but she also believes Canadians want to share with those in need during this time of year to realize the true meaning of the season.

While cash donations are still the most popular, there are other ways to give.

"Charity gift cards are a great way to spread giving," Glogovac says.

CanadaHelps.org offers charity gift cards for many occasions, and the recipient chooses the cause (from any of Canada's 86,000 charities) to which they want to contribute.

"Another trend is pooling family members together to make a group donation to a charity in lieu of exchanging family gifts."

Also growing in popularity is giving an item instead of cash, anything from livestock to trees can be gifted to a family in a developing country in someone's name.

Perhaps the most important decision is which charities to choose.

"Many people give to their alma maters, health-related charities and to communities in need, but there are many other worthy charities," Glogovac says. "It's important to choose based on what's important to you, especially if you're considering regular donations and planned giving."

Start with research.

"Don't just look at the obvious choices. There are many incredible small charities that do great work. Spend some time figuring out what's important to you."

Visit the Canada Revenue or CanadaHelps websites, or check out individual charity sites to read about charity visions, mission statements and more to help you decide.

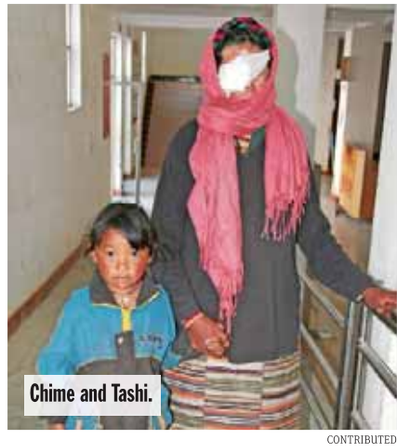
HELP A BLIND PERSON SEE



Chime and Tashi.

CONTRIBUTED

Ninety per cent of the 39 million blind people in the world live in low-income countries and the majority won't walk into a hospital and request sight-restoring surgery for something as treatable as cataracts, the leading cause of blindness. They are too poor. They don't understand they can be helped. They have no way to get to the hospital. They are frightened. They are women and children and not able to travel freely. They will stay blind until eye care is brought to their doorstep.

Seva Canada has worked for more than 30 years to restore sight and prevent blindness in low-income countries. Seva believes eye-care programs must leave the confines of the hospital.

"The most important thing we do is to connect blind people, the majority of whom live in remote, rural areas with the eye care that can help them," says Seva Canada executive director Penny Lyons. "This is accomplished by studying the financial and social barriers that prevent people from accessing care and using this knowledge to empower people to get the help they need."

Eighty per cent of all visual impairment is avoidable through prevention, treatment or cure. Cataracts can be treated with a 15-minute operation costing just $50.

This holiday season help a blind person see.

Someone like Chime. Chime and her only companion, six-year-old daughter Tashi, were homeless beggars in the streets of Nakchu, Tibet. Chime, blind from cataracts, relied on Tashi to lead her through the streets to beg for food and money. Then Seva came and restored Chime's sight. Now she can see. She can work. Tashi can go to school. Together they have a brighter future.

HELP THOSE STRUGGLING WITH ADDICTIONS

When struggling with addiction, sobriety can seem like an overwhelming and unreachable goal. However, recovery is never out of reach, no matter how hopeless or intimidating it seems. Change is possible with the right treatment and by addressing the root cause of the addiction.

For many addicts, addiction starts at a young age when they turn to available chemicals to escape the discomforts of everyday life. Not understanding the cause, they place blame on everyone else for their circumstances and are accountable to no one. Eventually, they lose control of their lives and substances consume them and make all their decisions for them.

All this begins to change when they enrol in Welcome Home. Welcome Home is more than just a rehab centre. It is a life-skill training centre for young men and women ages 19-34 who are committed to changing their lives.

COLOURBOX

At Welcome Home, program participants are kept productively occupied at all times. Idle time for addicts is dangerous — it leads them to thinking of justifiable reasons to give in to temptation. The structure at Welcome Home is exactly what is needed to help maintain the sole focus of recovery. Having the regiment and the daily routine helps build students into the people they are meant to become.

The daily program includes:

- Group therapy
- Physical exercise
- Vocational skills development
- Social skills development
- Leadership training
- Recreational and social activities
- Life skills training in nutrition, finance, mental wellness, healthy relationships, etc.

Through constant and consistent practice, only possible in long-term treatment, Welcome Home students gain the life skills and coping skills that were missing in life before.

Most of all, they learn that no matter what challenges come, the greatest challenge is overcoming themselves and the destructive patterns they developed in their addiction. Welcome Home pushes students beyond previous limits they set for themselves. They learn to be productive and to live fulfilling lives where using drugs is not an option. They learn to be responsible, not only for themselves, but also for others. They develop strong foundations for lives of sobriety and learn that life is worth living.

Inevitably, the road to recovery is full of stumbling blocks, pitfalls, and setbacks. However, with effective, long-term treatment, these obstacles become opportunities in disguise and help program participants develop mentally, socially, physically, emotionally, and spiritually until they are ready to live as responsible, contributing members of society for life.

For addicts still living in addiction, know that change is possible and all is not lost.

Don't waste another day. Stop the pain. Lifelong sobriety is within reach. Be bold. Make a choice. Decide today to make the right decisions. The first decision is to get help.

For more, call Welcome Home at 1-855-592-3001 or visit whrecovery.org.

CHANGING LIVES

Welcome Home promises to provide everything that is needed to change lives. The only thing required by potential students is a commitment to change. This is made possible by generous funding from the John Volken Foundation and through donations of supporters, which make Welcome Home the most affordable long-term treatment program of its kind.

One-hundred per cent of all donations go directly to supporting Welcome Home program participants in their recovery.

To sip, or not to sip: that is the question when it comes to brown spirits.

Whisky aficionados will tell you the only way to properly appreciate their chosen tipple is as far away from mix as possible. Except for seafaring scallywags, your average rum drinker is much more cocktail-oriented.

Well, we're all a pirate at heart, and rum has seen an upswing as the devoted take a pass on coke and dive into the nuances a fine cane spirit reveals right out of the bottle. It's the smaller batch, pot-still output that tastes best as a singular liquid entity.

Demerara has a reputation for being the cognac of rums. Typically dark and oak-aged, they're a sophisticated sipper, especially served over ice.

El Dorado 12 Year Old Demerara Rum ($33.95 to $37.99) is a blend of molasses spirit that's rested in used whisky barrels for a dozen years. The outcome is spicy and begs for contemplation. Hide it under mix if you must, but I don't know why you'd want to.

Ingredients

Prep time: 15 minutes
Bake time: 33 minutes

- 12 oz diced turkey breast
- 3 tbsp all-purpose flour
- 2 tsp vegetable oil
- 1 ½ cups diced onion
- 1 tsp vegetable oil
- 1 cup corn
- 3/4 cup diced red pepper
- 2 tsp chopped garlic
- 2 tsp cumin powder
- 1/2 tsp minced jalapeno peppers (add a few seeds for extra heat)
- pinch of salt and pepper
- 2 cups canned white cannellini beans, drained and rinsed
- 2 cups low-sodium chicken stock
- 1/2 cup grated white aged cheddar cheese

Garnish: chopped cilantro, grated aged orange cheddar cheese, diced tomatoes

1. Dust the turkey with flour. Sauté in 2 tsp oil just until browned on all sides (about 3 minutes). Do not cook through. Set aside.

2. Sauté the onion in 1 tsp oil for 5 minutes. Add the corn and sauté for 5 minutes until lightly browned. Add the red pepper, garlic, cumin, jalapenos and salt and pepper and sauté for 3 minutes.

3. Add 1 1/2 cups of the beans. Purée the remaining 1/2 cup with 1/2 cup of chicken stock. Add to the pot along with the remaining stock. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes until thickened. Add the turkey and cheese and cook for 2 minutes.

4. Garnish with cilantro, aged cheddar and tomatoes.

Leafs stuck in the middle with ... who?

NHL. Toronto enters a two-game series with Sabres down its top three centres

Nazem Kadri's "wild" night out Wednesday in Minnesota cost him a three-game suspension and $44,615.37 in salary.

That was the verdict from NHL disciplinarians Thursday evening, a three-game blow to the club's best playmaker and resulting shot to his pocketbook.

So the Leafs — already missing their top two centres — enter a home-and-home series with Buffalo Friday without Kadri's puck wizardry. The club vowed to move on but the loss of Kadri came at a time when the Leafs are struggling 5-on-5, having dropped near the bottom of the league in full-strength offence.

Toronto called up Trevor Smith from the Marlies to fill in the void left by Kadri's suspension. Ultimately, though, the club may have to make another roster adjustment since the roster is already at the 23-man maximum.

In handing down the suspension and resulting loss of salary, the NHL said Kadri "recklessly" collided with Wild goalie Niklas Backstrom in his crease, causing injury. Backstrom left the game after the incident and was listed Thursday with an upper-body injury.

With NHL GMs in Toronto earlier this week, discussing goalie collisions as part of their annual meetings, the emphasis fell on the league to stress the severity of colliding with goalies.

The Leafs have been living without top centres Tyler Bozak and Dave Bolland for almost two weeks, prompting coach Randy Carlyle to call upon the remainder of the roster to increase its commitment and compete levels.

MLB. Miggy extends MVP reign for another year

All those who marvel at Miguel Cabrera can only wonder what he might have done this year if completely healthy.

Even so, Cabrera was a huge hit in Motown.

Despite being hobbled by all sorts of ailments, the Detroit Tigers slugger won his second straight American League Most Valuable Player award Thursday, once again beating Angels outfielder Mike Trout by a comfortable margin.

A season after winning baseball's first Triple Crown in 45 years, Cabrera came back to lead the majors in hitting at .348 and finish second with 44 home runs and 137 RBIs.

"I think this year was tougher because of the injuries," he said on a conference call from the Miami area.

"It was the last two months. It was tough to play through it."

Still, Cabrera got 23 of 30 first-place votes from members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Pirates centre fielder Andrew McCutchen took the NL MVP by a surprisingly wide margin after leading a baseball revival in Pittsburgh. McCutchen drew 28 of the 30 first-place votes after hitting .317 with 21 home runs and 84 RBIs in 2013. He also scored 97 runs, stole 27 bases and had a .404 on-base percentage. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leafs can't afford to fight grudge match

THE HOCKEY NEWS
Adam Proteau
toronto@metronews.ca

Given their fondness for fisticuffs under head coach Randy Carlyle, the Toronto Maple Leafs undoubtedly will be tempted to get physical with the Buffalo Sabres when the two teams begin a home-and-home series on successive nights beginning tonight in Buffalo.

It's understandable why. For starters, there's the teams' status as divisional rivals and their recent history of violence that includes a pre-season line brawl (featuring a goalie fight and Phil Kessel taking a two-handed stick swing to the skates of enforcer John Scott). But there's also the fact the Sabres are playing their first game since firing longtime GM Darcy Regier and head coach Ron Rolston Wednesday and replacing them with interim coach Ted Nolan and director of hockey operations Pat LaFontaine.

Phil Kessel slashes John Scott during their infamous tussle on Sept 22. GETTY IMAGES

That combination of events all but guarantees the Sabres will be jacked up to take on the Leafs. But the last thing Toronto should be doing is offering an over-the-top response to Buffalo's aggressive attack.

Certainly, the Leafs' precarious situation at centre is one very good reason for restraint on their behalf. Engaging in overly physical play that may lead to more suspensions or injuries is not something that will benefit the Blue and White.

More importantly, the Leafs must play these next two games knowing they're by far the more skilled team — and certainly, the only one with a hope of securing a post-season berth. The Sabres, on the other hand, are like the new kid on the block who wants to make a name for himself at someone else's expense. The best revenge Toronto can get for Scott's pre-season assault on Kessel is to beat them on the scoreboard and move on. With only five standings points separating the third-place Leafs from ninth place in the Eastern Conference, there's no room for the Leafs to put grudges above wins.

NOW RECRUITING
MARIJUANA USERS
MEDICINES COME IN ALL SHAPES AND SIZES
SO DO OUR VOLUNTEERS
Developing new medicines and improving existing ones depends on clinical trials. But these carefully controlled clinical research studies need volunteers. That's why we're looking for healthy adults who:
• Are aged 18 to 55
• Use cannabis (marijuana or hashish) on a regular basis (at least once a week)
If you're eligible, you'll attend one screening visit, one 6-day qualification session, five 4-day treatment periods, and one follow-up visit.
Eligible subjects will receive up to $5,905 in financial compensation for participation in this clinical trial.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
You may not be able to ignore problems on the work front but you can lessen their impact by refusing to worry about them.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
There is no copyright on ideas and if someone else's insight grabs you and makes you think you can use it for your own benefit then do so and don't feel in the least bit guilty about it.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
You may not care what other people are saying about you behind your back but the planets suggest it might be a wise move to find out.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
What loved ones need most is a few words of encouragement, and that's something you never fail to deliver.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
The more you hurry lately you less you seem to get done. Do you think you should take the hint? Don't worry about falling behind in your schedule. If you take things easy today you may actually find you get more done.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
Someone at work or in your social sphere may say something hurtful today but you don't have to take it seriously. It's only words and words cannot do lasting damage, unless you let them. Ignore what you don't want to hear.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
Just because friends don't seem too impressed by your latest big idea does not mean you should abandon it.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Generally speaking you don't try too hard to make yourself look good – as far as you're concerned it's up to other people to impress you – but it will pay you to put on your best face today.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
The answer to a problem of some kind is more likely to come to you if you stop searching for it so hard.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
The more someone tries to convince you of their honesty the more careful you should be. The fact that they are making such a big issue of it suggests they may have something to hide. You're not the sort to be easily fooled – are you?

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Cosmic activity in the most sensitive area of your chart means you find it hard to let others know how you feel. Maybe that's just as well.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Mistakes are a fact of life, so if you make one today don't feel too bad about it. On the other hand, if a friend or colleague points out that you are making the same mistake over and over again then maybe you do need to act.
